

From Sinc. Dept.
M. Maher

8/12/64

Lecture: Wednesday, September 30, 1964, 8:15 P.M.

"The Case for Greek Sculpture"

NAME: Rhys Carpenter

ADDRESS: Jerry Run, R.D. 2, Downingtown, Penna.

PLACE OF BIRTH: Cotuit, Mass.

EDUCATION: Columbia University, N.Y., and Balliol College, Oxford, England.

CAREER HISTORY: Taught Classical Archaeology at Bryn Mawr College (connected with the college since 1913 and at present Professor Emeritus)

Also, Director of the American School of Classical Studies at Athens, Greece, 1927-1932; Sather Professor, U. of Cal., 1945; Visiting Mellon Prof. U. of Pittsburgh, 1961-2; Walker Ames Professor of Classics, U. of Wash., 1964; etc.

TRAVEL: Extensive in the various Mediterranean countries; also other parts of Europe

PUBLICATIONS 6 books on Greek art and archaeology; a great many professional articles in the American Journal of Archaeology and other learned journals.

OTHER BIOGRAPHICAL FACTS: 75 years old but still going strong

EXACT TITLE OF LECTURE: The Case for Greek Sculpture

AIM AND SCOPE OF LECTURE: to serve as introduction to the series on the Classical Tradition (Junior Council Series)

(Junior Council lecture, Sept. 29, "The Classical Tradition: Its Foundations in Greece and Rome")